Case Check is a service of the Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements (SAVE) Program. The SAVE Program and its Case Check service do not provide any determinations regarding an applicant's eligibility for a specific benefit or license. Only the benefit-granting agency can make that final determination.

It's a Simple Tool to Help You Monitor the Progress of Your Immigration Status Verification Case

An immigration status verification performed through the Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements (SAVE) Program is one of the steps government agencies may take to determine your eligibility for benefits, such as a driver's license, housing assistance, Medicaid and others. SAVE Case Check is the online service that lets you check the status of an immigration status verification case made on your behalf by your benefit-granting agency.

How to Use SAVE Case Check

Step 1: Have your 15-digit USCIS Verification Case Number ready. The USCIS Verification Case Number is automatically generated by SAVE when an additional verification is made by a benefit-granting agency. Then, go online to www.uscis.gov/SAVE/CaseCheck

Step 2: Type in your Verification Case Number, agree to the terms of use, and click "Submit"

Step 3: You will receive a response within a few seconds notifying you of the status of the immigration verification case made by your benefit-granting agency.

Remember: Case Check is absolutely free for applicants to use, and you can use it as often as you like.

Why Should You Use Case Check?

- It's an easy way to track the progress of your immigration status verification check
- It reduces the need for repeat visits to your benefit granting agency while the verification process is ongoing
- It lets you know when you should return to your benefit-granting agency

Who Can Use Case Check?

- Any non-citizen over the age of 18 who is applying for benefits or licenses from federal, state or local benefit-granting agencies
- Residents of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, CNMI, Puerto Rico or the U.S. Virgin Islands

Remember, you must use your 15-digit USCIS Verification Case Number to access Case Check.
